Session 14 as written runs about 85 minutes. This insert adds two short videos and one talk with a longer discussion, which fills the session to two hours.

What's in this insert

- Video 14A, "Communication Styles" (2 min 51 s). Yesterday was how you receive, today is how you send. The four styles on screen one at a time (aggressive, passive, passive-aggressive, assertive), each with what it sounds like, where it comes from and what it gets you, and why assertive takes the most courage. It ends on the guide's self-assessment question, "Under stress, which style do you default to?", and holds it for 20 seconds.
- Video 14B, "'I' Statements" (2 min 9 s). "You" statements attack, "I" statements own; the formula; the guide's three situations with the "You" and "I" versions side by side; why it takes guts. It ends on the formula: I feel ___ when ___ because ___.
- A talk on conversation: Celeste Headlee, 10 ways to have a better conversation (TEDxCreativeCoast 2015, 11 minutes 20 seconds), with discussion questions. She is a radio interviewer; her ten rules turn this week's listening and today's styles into habits for everyday talk.

Run of show (120 minutes)

Time	Segment	Min	Notes
0:00	Opening circle	10	As written: the check-in on yesterday's listening practice.
0:10	Video 14A , then Instruction: The 4 Communication Styles	33	Play the video right after the check-in. It ends on the self-assessment question; its 20 seconds on screen are the guide's silence. Go straight to the show of hands, then the push-back on "assertive." Use the rest for what each style looks like in the body (in the guide, not in the video) and for examples from the room.
0:43	Video 14B , then Instruction: "I" Statements vs. "You" Statements	17	The video puts the formula and the three examples on screen. Write the formula on the board, then ask the men what changed between each pair, in their own words.
1:00	Exercise: Rewriting Statements	20	As written.
1:20	Talk: Celeste Headlee, 10 ways to have a better conversation	12	Introduce it in one sentence: "She talks to strangers for a living. Listen for which of her ten rules you break the most."
1:32	Talk discussion	15	Questions below.

Discussion questions for 10 ways to have a better conversation

1. She says that if you want to state your opinion with no chance of response or pushback, you should write a blog instead of having a conversation. Which of the four styles does that sound like? Where do you hear it in the dorm?
2. Which of her ten rules do you break first when you are under stress? What does that tell you about your default style?
3. She quotes Stephen Covey: most people don't listen with the intent to understand; they listen with the intent to reply. An "I" statement only works if the other man actually hears it. How do her rules make that more likely?
4. Her last rule is "Be brief." Take one of your rewrites from the exercise and say it to the man next to you in one sentence, keeping the feeling, the behavior and the impact.
5. She says to go into every conversation assuming you have something to learn. What would change in a dorm conflict if both men did that?
