Session 43 as written runs about 110 minutes (10 + 90 + 10). It is a teaching practicum: the men teach their own lessons. This insert adds one short opening video and gives the spare minutes to the presenters. There is no outside talk, because the practica need every minute (see "About the timing" below).

What's in this insert

- Video 43A, "Teaching Practicum 1" (2 min 25 s). The guide's opening in short: today is the day; nervousness means you care; for everyone who isn't presenting, "you are the group," and how you show up shapes how the presenter performs; training, not performance; the 30-minute lesson (hook, content, practice, debrief; a signal at 25, a stop at 30); the observation rubric's five criteria and its 1-to-4 scale ("a 2 is not an insult"); and vague against specific feedback, in the guide's own examples. It ends on the rubric's three written comments, One strength. One area for improvement. One question., and holds them for 20 seconds while you hand out the rubrics.
- No outside talk. The time goes to the presenters.

Run of show (120 minutes)

Time	Segment	Min	Notes
0:00	Opening, with Video 43A at the start	12	Play the video as soon as the men are seated. It covers most of the guide's opening words and names the rubric's criteria. While the last card holds, hand out the rubrics. Then walk through the rubric table as written (the video names the five criteria and the scale, not what each level looks like) and say in your own words anything from the opening you want the men to hear from you.
0:12	Teaching Practica — First Group	98	As written: each presenter teaches for 30 minutes (signal at 25, cut at 30), then the feedback round (three peers, your feedback, the presenter's minute). You observe and do not rescue. The ten minutes left over from the guide's timing go here.
1:50	Closing	10	As written: the one-word round and the homework.

About the timing of the practica

Plan the numbers before the session. At the guide's standard timing (a 30-minute lesson and a 10–12-minute feedback round, about 40–42 minutes a presenter), 98 minutes holds two presenters. At the guide's shorter option for a big group (25-minute lessons and 8-minute feedback rounds, 33 minutes a presenter), it holds about three. The guide says "4–5 presenters: standard timing works," and Week 14 plans six presenters a day for a cohort of 12; neither fits in the time. Settle with the program lead how every man will get his turn before the day, rather than cutting a presenter short or skipping a feedback round.

Checklist additions

- ☐ Video 43A loaded on the playback device and tested with sound
- ☐ Rubrics ready to hand out while the video's last card holds (one for each presenter, for every observer)
- ☐ Timer or watch visible to presenters
- ☐ Presenter order and the number of presenters settled before the session
