Session 34 as written runs about 110 minutes. This insert adds one short video and one short talk, which fills the session to two hours without changing the test or its 75 minutes.

What's in this insert

- Video 34, "The Knowledge Check" (2 min 17 s). It says the guide's four things out loud: the test is not designed to trick anyone, and every question comes from the sessions (it names the six areas the test covers); 70%, or 21 of 30, to advance; if you don't pass today you can retake it, because this is a knowledge check, not a character judgment; and the format, 30 questions in 75 minutes, with substance over length. It also says that a man can ask what a question means (but won't be given the answer), that a question can be read aloud to him, and to sit quietly if he finishes early. It shows no questions and no answers. It ends on "Any questions before you start?" and holds it for 20 seconds.
- A short talk on practice: How to practice effectively... for just about anything, Annie Bosler and Don Greene (TED-Ed, 4 minutes 35 seconds), with discussion questions.

Run of show (120 minutes)

Time	Segment	Min	Notes
0:00	Opening, with Video 34	10	Room set for testing, as the guide says. Play the video as soon as the men are seated; it covers the guide's four points, so you don't need to read them. Answer questions while the last card is up, then hand out the Knowledge Check: "Pens up. Begin."
0:10	Knowledge Check administration	75	As written. Proctor; clarify what a question asks, never the answer.
1:25	Talk: How to practice effectively	5	Collect every test first. Then: "Tests are done. Take a breath." Introduce the talk in one sentence: "Four minutes on what practice actually does to your brain. Listen for the four tips."
1:30	Talk discussion	4	One or two of the questions below. Keep it light; the men have just finished a test.
1:34	Post-test	25	As written: review 3–4 concepts without giving answers, then tomorrow's portfolio requirements. The talk's point about practice leads into the review.
1:59	Buffer	1

If the test runs long, or several men need questions read aloud, skip the talk and its discussion; the session still ends on time.

Discussion questions for the talk

The talk is about physical skills (dancing, an instrument, a free throw). The bridge to FORGE is yours to make: a pause, a breath, catching a thinking error are skills built the same way.

1. The talk says effective practice aims at "the edge of one's current abilities." Which Phase 1 skill still sits at that edge for you? (Talk about skills, not about test questions; some men may retake.)
2. "Coordination is built with repetitions, whether correct or incorrect." Which FORGE tool have you practiced enough that it now comes on its own: the pause, the breath, a thinking report in your head? What did that take?
3. The last tip is practicing in your mind, in vivid detail. Pick one situation you might face in the dorm this week. Walk through it in your head, step by step. What do you see yourself doing?
4. Whatever your score turns out to be, what will you practice between now and Phase 2, and how?
