Session 16 as written runs about 95 minutes. This insert adds two short videos and one talk, which fills the session to two hours without changing any of its content.

What's in this insert

- Video 16A, "Tools, Not Reactions" (2 min 9 s). What Week 6 is for, and the bridge from earlier weeks in the guide's own words: the thinking errors that scream at you in a conflict (Week 2), the escalation curve (Week 3), and listening (Week 5). It ends on the check-in question and holds it for 20 seconds.
- Video 16B, "The 5-Step Model and the Heat Scale" (2 min 26 s). The five steps one at a time, each with its technique from the guide (the 3-to-5-second pause and 4-4-4 breath, the posture, "I can see this is heated," the 60-second facts, needs and options, a specific agreement and the check-back), then the four heat levels. It ends on "Match your response to the actual heat level."
- A talk on conflict: Kwame Christian, Finding confidence in conflict (TEDxDayton 2017, 11 minutes 27 seconds), with discussion questions.

Run of show (120 minutes)

Time	Segment	Min	Notes
0:00	Video 16A, "Tools, Not Reactions"	2	Play it as soon as the men are seated, with the talking piece in the center.
0:02	Opening Circle	10	Start the round on the question the video ends on. Close with the guide's line: "Most people don't have tools. They have reactions. This week, you get tools."
0:12	Review and Bridge	10	The video has named closed thinking, power thrust, victim stance, the escalation curve and listening. Have handbooks open to the conflict resolution section and ask for one example of each thinking error from the conflicts described in the check-in.
0:22	Instruction: The 5-Step Model — Deep Dive	35	Play Video 16B from the start to 1:37 (the five steps), then pause it. Teach each step as written, with the role-play lines, the "What you DON'T say" list, and the common needs.
0:57	Instruction: The Heat Scale	10	Play the rest of Video 16B, from 1:37 (the four heat levels, 48 seconds). Then put the Heat Scale display up and go through the guide's examples for each level.
1:07		20	As written, including the 5-minute debrief.

Time	Segment	Min	Notes
	Exercise: Rating the Heat
1:27	Talk: Kwame Christian, Finding confidence in conflict	12	Introduce it in one sentence: "He's a negotiator. Listen for where his three moves match the five steps you just learned."
1:39	Talk discussion	9	Questions below.
1:48	Closing Circle	10	As written, with the homework: memorize the five steps; journal a past conflict walked through the model.
1:58	Buffer	2

Discussion questions for the Kwame Christian talk

1. He calls his approach "compassionate curiosity": acknowledge and validate the emotion, get curious with compassion, then solve the problem together. Where do you hear those three moves in the five steps? (Name the Heat; Facts > Stories; Needs & Options.)
2. His first move is dealing with the emotion before the problem. Why does FORGE put Name the Heat before Facts > Stories? What happens when someone skips straight to "What happened?"
3. Would his approach work at every level of the heat scale? Where does it fit, and where would you stop and refer instead?
4. Think of the conflict you described in the check-in. Which step got skipped? What would one curious question have changed?
